Plants can not only perceive sound but can also produce sound, and with the aid of biodata sonification, bioelectrical plant responses or signals can be amplified, filtered and translated into sound and music.

Experiencing the "Music of the Plants", is one of the best ways to alter the general human "plant blindness" and guide our attention back to them and to perceive plants finally as the fascinating living beings that they are, and to whom we all are inseparably linked with.

We are grateful to now be able to offer a presentation, live demonstration and inter-active experience of the 'Music of the Plants' as a separate presentation or included in other LESELI Experiences or Events.

"Music of the Plants" Talks & Presentations
